WASHINGTON CULTUS CLUB

The cultus club of the Washington Cultus Club will meet Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. W. H. Sholes, in the Lambert, the occasion being an open meeting, to which a number of guests had been invited. The president, Mrs. Clifford Berryman, occupied the chair and the speaker of the afternoon Charles H. Whitaker, editor of the Journal of the American Institute of Architects. Ancient Egypt being the subject of study for the Cultus Club this year, the address given by Mr. Whitaker dealt with that country in a general way, calling attention to the forces that through passing ages had brought the people to such a state of development as to make possible the monuments they had left to posterity.

Added interest was given to the informal talk of Mr. Whitaker in the superb collection of illustrations of the subject which were displayed about the rooms, comprising scenes from the busy streets of Cairo and the ruins of the Nile valley. The pictures loaned by Mr. Whitaker were a part of his collection of colored lithographic reproductions from the works of the artist David Roberts of the British Royal Academy, who in the year 1835 and later lived in Egypt and produced the marvelous collection.

At the close of the talk Miss Edna Dyer, accompanied by Mrs. Florence Dyer, sang a group of songs, an Egyptian cycle, and Mrs. Sholes read the plot of the opera "Aida" several sections from that opera being rendered upon the Victrola. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a social hour ensued.

Mrs. Jane Shields Elliott, the founder and first president of the Cultus Club, and several associates were present, and among the guests were Mrs. S. E. Lewis, Miss L. B. Fisher, Mrs. H. H. Carroll, Mrs. E. A. Allen, Mrs. E. S. Dougherty, Mrs. J. B. Cook, Mrs. E. S. Low, Mrs. Earl Godwin, Mrs. W. B. Flanagan, Mrs. Florence M. Barksdale, Mrs. H. B. Nesbitt, Miss Lee of New Haven and Mrs. Irving Bruce of East Hampton.

Mrs. Charles P. Grandfield recited an Indian legend and Miss Bertha T. Wolf Hooser, in Hooser dialect, Miss Ethelyn B. ### DAUGHTERS OF 1812

An unusually large meeting of the District Society, N. S. Daughters of 1812, was held Monday at Hotel Fort Stanton, with the president in the chair. After reading the reports of officers and letters relating to the annual congress to be held in New York city in April, the death of Mrs. Yoakam, a recent member, and the transfer of Mrs. Fred to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Yoakam, were reported. It was decided that, as a mark of appreciation, the chapter should present a memorial to Mrs. Yoakam. Mrs. Henry in a few well chosen words expressed her thanks for the compliment and the memorial was presented.

The following, by virtue of their office, are delegates to the annual congress, Mrs. President, Mrs. Kate Keary, Mrs. Henry, vice presidents, Mrs. Al-Quicksall and Mrs. John Farnsworth, recording secretary, Mrs. Gals M. Brumbaugh, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Redwood Vandegrift, assistant recording secretary, Mrs. Beila M. Truby, treasurer, Mrs. William M. Dove, registrar, Miss Margaret V. McWhorter, auditor, Mrs. Anne C. Draper, historian, Miss Maud Burr Morris, and librarian, Miss Augustus Jackson, but none of the members of the chapter were present to attend the congress, and in order to assure the full number of votes to which the District society is entitled, the following list of alternates were selected, from which to fill vacancies, viz.: Mrs. E. C. Brown, Mrs. C. W. Brown, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Matteson, Mrs. Marsh and Mrs. Tuohy, Mrs. Noyes, Richardson, Jones, Curtis, Denison, Oursler and Myer.

The head of the gavel is made from an oak beam taken from the Francis Scott Key monument in Georgetown and which bore the date 1793; the handle is cut from one of the rafters supporting the gable roof; in one end of the head a piece of mahogany from the officers' dining table on the U. S. S. Maine is inserted, and in the other end a piece of copper from the original roof of the Capitol.

RUTH BREWSTER CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The March meeting of the Ruth Brewster Chapter, D. A. R., was held Monday at the home of the regent, Mrs. Leslie S. Lippcomb, 3901 16th street. This date was the fourth anniversary of the founding of the chapter. It was organized in 1911 by Mrs. Frank Foster Greenwalt, founder of the District of Columbia D. A. R. chapter, who was then Miss Lippcomb. The essay chosen, Ruth Brewster, was in honor of the regent's grandmother, the founder, who was a granddaughter of Elder William Brewster, who came over in the Mayflower.

The chapter, though small, has been active and successful. Last year it led the forty-eight chapters of the District in contributions to patriotic education, giving the largest single contribution. This year the work has been for the Red Cross aid and to assist in the reduction of the debt on Memorial Continental Hall. An illustrated lecture for this benefit is to be given in conjunction with the Keystone Chapter shortly in the room of the new hotel, when Harry Bulkeley of the Sons of the Revolution, will give his lecture on the Yellowstone Park. The report of the treasurer showed a good financial condition. One new member was elected, Mrs. William Caudin, secretary.

Through the courtesy of the management of the company now playing at the Little Miss Leonie Dana of "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and five other members of the chapter were invited to give an entertainment at the Bruen Home to which the children of several institutions of the city were invited, called for in autos and returned to their homes after a happy afternoon.

Mrs. Archibald Hopkins told of her plans for the women of the country to build a block of model tenement houses as a memorial to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Mrs. Hopkins stated that she is a lifelong resident of Washington and that during all her life she has been a devoted citizen of the land who gave herself in personal service for the poor and suffering of Washington as did Mrs. Wilson. Constitution Chapter voted unanimously to endorse the project and pledged active work in support of the effort as well as to contribute to the fund for its consummation.
